

Current trends in HUMAN DIVERSITY

The seminar is the first part of a series showcasing the interdisciplinary research associated with the Human Diversity consortium.

Wednesday September 25th 10–12
University of Turku Main building, Säästöpankkisali, lecture room 2

“Diamond and the drunk hypothesis”

RUSSELL GRAY

Professor, Head of Department
Department of Linguistic and Cultural Evolution
Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology

“Ecological origins of gender bias: a study of Tibetan groups”

RUTH MACE

Professor of Evolutionary Biology
UCL Anthropology
University College London

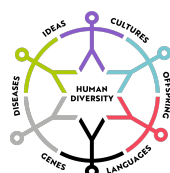

“The Steppe Impact on Prehistoric Europe:
Conclusions, consequences and caveats”

VOLKER HEYD

Professor of Archaeology
Department of Cultures
University of Helsinki

More information about the consortium and the seminars here: <https://sites.utu.fi/humandiversity/seminars/>

UNIVERSITY OF TURKU

Suomen Akatemia
Finlands Akademi
Research Council of Finland